Health Care Providers & Social Media

- Social media can be useful to providers.
- Providers have legal obligations.
- Providers should be proactive with maintaining control over content and establishing institutional policies on appropriate use.

What is Social Media and Who Cares?

- Social media: internet-based technologies designed to distribute information and ideas through social interaction.
- Uses widely accessible and scalable technologies (including cell phones).
- Facebook, YouTube, Twitter, Orkut, LinkedIn.
- Facebook: 400+ million users
- Non-provider hosted sites (external sites)
 - Different legal obligations may arise when a provider hosts blogs and other media on its own servers.

What's in it for Health Care Providers?

- April 2010: Hospitals have established:
 - 250 YouTube channels
 - 300 Facebook pages
 - 400 Twitter accounts
- Social Media is useful to Providers:
 - Launch innovative advertising/marketing campaigns
 - Provide patients & families with information
 - Remain competitive with other providers that have established social media presences.

Legal Obligations: Confidentiality

- Providers are ‘covered entities’ under HIPAA & state law
- Affirmative legal obligation to safeguard protected patient information
 - Patient names, addresses, email addresses
- Creating social media content does not implicate privacy laws as long as providers do not post patient information without authorization

Legal Obligations: Disclaimers

- Given informal nature of social media, providers can remind online visitors that posts are public:
 - “This is a public site. Please do not post personal information about yourself or others, including medical information.”
- Note: outside scope of this presentation, but with institution-hosted media (e.g., blogs), a more complete terms & conditions notice may be appropriate.

Administrative Controls

- Wide range of administrative controls available to providers that establish social media presence
- Facebook:
 - Content posting restricted to page administrators only (public cannot post content)
 - Closed group – persons must formally request to “join” group before having posting access
 - Default landing – set to “info” so that public sees disclaimer first, before seeing any posted content

Facebook: Admin Controls

The screenshot shows the Facebook Admin interface for a page named "traveling off the beaten path". The page features a cover photo of a high-speed train. The navigation tabs include Wall, Info, Photos, and Discussions. A post creation box is visible with the text "What's on your mind?" and a "Share" button. The "View Settings" section is open, showing options for Default View for Wall (Posts by Page and Fans), Default Landing Tab for Everyone Else (Wall), and Auto-Expand Comments (checked). The "Fan Permissions" section is also visible, with checkboxes for "Fans can write or post content on the wall", "Fans can post photos", "Fans can post videos", and "Fans can post links", all of which are checked. The left sidebar contains links for "Edit Page", "Promote with an Ad", "Add to My Page's Favorites", and "Suggest to Friends". The "Information" section shows the page was founded in 1965. The "Insights" section shows 0 Post Quality and 0 Interactions This Week. The bottom of the page shows the "Internet" browser icon.

Social Media Policy

- Providers should:
 - Adopt a Social Media Policy for employees and staff
 - Educate staff about the contents of the Policy
 - Enforce policy through imposing consequences for violations

Social Media Policy: Adopt

- Policy should:
 - Set rules for what information staff can post and say online
 - Remind and educate staff about obligations – patient privacy, protecting proprietary institutional information
 - Clarify appropriate relationships between staff, patients and the public

Social Media Policy: Educate & Enforce

- Educate:
 - Any policy is only as good as the institutional awareness of it
 - Know the policy; educate staff at hire and push periodic updates
- Enforce:
 - Follow through with penalties for violations

Social Media Policy: Provisions & Examples

- Policy statement: “Employees can use social media for business-related purposes subject to restrictions in this Policy to ensure compliance with legal requirements and institutional policies.”
- Scope of policy – separate provisions for institution-hosted and externally hosted sites.

Social Media Policy: Provisions & Examples

- Rules for use:
 - Maintain patient privacy
 - Respect patients and other staff – no libelous or defamatory speech
 - Safeguard proprietary institutional information
 - Comply with copyright, trademark and other law
 - Do not communicate on “behalf” of institution
 - No patient-specific medical advice
