

Tony Usibelli
Director, Energy Policy Division
Washington State Office of Trade and Economic Development

Tony Usibelli is Director of the Energy Policy Division for the Washington State Office of Trade and Economic Development (OTED). Prior to joining OTED, he was an energy code specialist with Washington State University, manager of the energy efficiency-section at the Washington State Energy Office, and a staff scientist at the Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory.

Usibelli's responsibilities focus on policy support for Washington's energy efficiency and renewable energy industry, state and national electricity policy, ethanol development, global climate change and greenhouse gas reduction strategies, and implementation of state-level energy policy.

Usibelli has also been an adjunct faculty member at the Evergreen State College where he has taught or co-taught courses in energy, natural resources, and global climate change. He holds a master's degree in energy and resources from the University of California, Berkeley, and bachelor of arts degrees in geography and classical archaeology.
